CV Chamber Names Six "Good Eggs"

Six citizens received "good egg" awards for outstanding community service from the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce at its annual installation banquet Saturday night at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. A record turn-out of more than 300 attended, according to Lori Swiess, Chamber Secretary.

Receiving the top award Saturday were Dr. Clancy Van Horn, Miya and Gordon Miyamoto, Mrs. Creston Crockett, Chamber President Rex White, and Supervisor Tom Hudson.

Dr. Ed Marcucci acted as Master of Ceremonies. Paul Porter presented White with a briefcase as a gift of appreciation for his work for the Chamber.

Lou Gardner, who made the "good egg" awards, pointed out that only two were awarded last year, and three is the maximum ever presented in any previous year.

He cited Dr. Van Horn for his eight years of service as the professional member of the Carmel Valley first aid team. Gardner said that Fire Chief Chip Collins reported that it takes Dr. Van Horn only three to five minutes after being called to appear at the scene of an accident.

The Miyamoto brothers were lauded for their devotion to the youth of the area, coaching baseball. As coaches of Little League teams from 1959 through 1963 and Babe Ruth teams in 1963-64, they consistently led their boys to league victories.

Major credit for bringing the idea of a community swimming pool to realization was the reason for the next good egg award, which went to Mrs. Crockett. Gardner praised her for working nine years to make the dream come true.

President White was cited as a man who never turns down a call for community serve. Owner-operator of Prince's Camp, in the Cachagua, White never hesitates to drive 37 miles to and from Carmel Valley Village to serve its Chamber of Commerce, Gardner said.

Receiving his good egg award, Supervisor Hudson was lauded by Gardner "for many accomplishments and handling your job with skill and intelligence."

As featured speaker on the program, Hudson urged the Chamber to give high priority on its agenda to flood control, and to preserve the local airport. He reviewed the long history of futile efforts at flood control on Carmel River beginning with Army Engineer studies back in 1941, 1946 and 1955, to hearings in 1957 and another study in 1958. He said the Army Corps of Engineers now is not too interested in further study, because of the unenthusiastic reception its proposals have received before.

Hudson pointed out that the Carmel Valley Airport is the most fog-free in the area and very valuable as an emergency landing field when others are closed-in. Recalling that the Board of Supervisors has named an Airport Advisory Committee, he said it is of major importance that the local airport be better developed and preserved from sub-division.

On the subject of juvenile delinquency, the County Supervisor indicated that the county is going to crack down on adults selling liquor to juveniles.

Hudson also asked for suggestions for utilization of the fifteen acres being dedicated to the County by Alcan - Pacific Company.

Herb Brownell, an early president of the Chamber, presented the gavel to White. The story of organization of the Chamber 12 years ago was related by Byington Ford, its first president.

Propose Hotel Behind Jr. Hi

August Nieto of Carmel and Kevin Walsh of Carmel Valley, under the name Hatton Park Development Company, will request a use permit for a 75-acre private recreation facility behind Carmel Junior High School, at the County Planning Commission next Tuesday, January 26, at 2:25 p.m.

To be located on land currently owned by Mrs. Louise Hatton of Corral De Tierra, the project would comprise a compact 18-hole golf course, a 100 unit resort hotel, and "othertypes of recreation, such as swimming that the public might desire." according to Nieto, a realtor who was one of the developers of the Carmel Craft Studios a decade ago.

"For seven years I have thought about ways in which the River land might be preserved for public enjoyment, visually as well as recreationally," Nieto told the Outlook. He and Walsh would take a longterm lease on 50 acres of wooded land about 1/4 mile in length, through which the Carmel River flows. "It has magnificent trees, and is now so heavily undergrown that a person cannot walk through it. We would clear it out, but would remove very few of the trees.."' They will also purchase a 60-foot access strip from Carmel Valley Road just east of the Junior High.

An additional 25 acres, "on a rise about 35 feet aabove river level, hence removed from flood danger," as Nieto explained it would be purchased outright as the site of the hotel, which would be constructed on 10 acres.

The land in question is presently zoned K-G-B-4, like much of CV's still open space. This zoning allows "rural professional" usage which would include recreational facilities of this type. A use permit is necessary, but not rezoning.

"It is my dream that much of the Carmel river bottom may be preserved for public enjoyment by this type of development," Nieto said. ''If the public understands what we are trying to do, this project comprising just a quarter-mile of the river as it now exists, would be only a beginning...."

GRAVEL RENEWAL

Also on the planners' agenda next Tuesday is a request from Mike Dormody for renewal of a permit to remove natural materials from the Carmel riverbed, with related crushing and screening equipment, now located on property owned by the San Carlos Ranch near San Carlos Road. Dormody applied for a renewal in January, 1964, and at that time was granted a 1-year extension.

FISH TALES

Non-anglers may be intrigued as we were by the following tidbits of information offered by CV gamewarden Les Golden:

"Steelhead" are actually aform of rainbow trout. They are "anadromous," meaning they live mostly in the sea but migrate upstream to spawn. Steelhead make this trip annually, but Salmon, also anadromous, never return to the sea. On achieving maturity at age 3 or 4 years, salmon swim upstream, but after laying their eggs they die in the river...

George Palmer got a B I G steelhead early this season, Les says.

The current steelhead season is limited so severely to give the fish a "sporting chance" to reproduce themselves, Les explains. Legal details may be found elsewhere in these pages...

EVANS ON CV

"I always welcome anopportunity to speak in the Valley," said County Planning Commission Chairman Keith Evans, who will be principalspeakerat next week's CVPOA installation.

"I admire the way you people out there handle your problems," Evans added.

We replied that we wished all County officials regarded the earnest interest of our residents in this light!

"It may be that Valley people occasionally wax over-enthusiastic," Evans reflected. "But to me this is far preferable to the apathy and lack of interest we are more apt to find in an area. Strong interest is far better than not enough!"

THANK YOU, GEORGE A. BROWN!

On behalf of the homeowners of Carmel Valley, retiring CVpoa president George A. Brown has given an incredible number of hours during his term of service this past year. In return he receives the appreciation of many, but unfortunately has also taken a barrage of unfair abuse and petty annoyance which might well have downed a less devoted volunteer!

George not only had to contend with an unprecedented volume of attempts to circumvent the intent of the CV Master Plan. The hardest part of his job was dealing with repeated contretemps of comic-opera proportions which beset the internal politics of the organization!

That the majority of the membership were solidly behind him was evidenced by repeated votes of confidence, contributions which currently fill CVPOA coffers, etc. The Board of Directors, however, was sharply divided and frequentlyblockedactionwhich the majority might well have wished to take.

Compounding theconfusionwere grossly inaccurate news reports released repeatedly (without authorization) by one of the group's dissident board members!

How could such a thing have happened? With the best intentions, last year's nominating committee assembled a Board representing widely divergent interests. The hope was that serving togetherandnecessarilycommunicating in the process would help to reconcile long existing differences of opinion.

The idea didn't work! Accordingly, every nominee for the Board this year was selected because he or she is known to have a pro-conservation approach appropriate to the formal purposes of the organization. Thus, next year's president should be able to count on a united Board.

Marian Weygers, who holds Open House every Sunday for friends and admirers of her famous artist-husband, told us that George attened one of the recent get-togethers.

"I was so pleased to note," she said, "that every single male guest present made a point of mentioning to George how very much they appreciated his courage and patience this past year."

We hope others will mention it, too.

Some of the CVPOA's achievements this year: Frank Bresk's committee presented the County with a scholarly list of recommendations for reconciling differences between the CV Master Plan and the Area Master Plan; this included a grade/density formula evolved by John Otter illustrating the feasibility of this type of regulation....At CVPOA's behest, Pacific Telephone Company conducted a study in the lower Valley and has now submitted recommendations for lower rates to the PUC...In numerous cases, the group successfully combatted spot zoning..

Then, of course, there was the recent decision to slow subdivision activity while seeking clarification of the population density question from a professional consultant recommended by the CVPOA. Referring to this moratorium, one loyal CVPOA member declared, "In the Alcan case, we may have lost the battle..but in long range terms we may have won the war!

FLOOD CONTROL

Had we not received at least one letter such as that from Mr. Pendleton, above, we would have felt we were living in Never-Never land. Actually, one letter opposing Valley-wide flood control was all that we did receive! In our last issue, on the other hand, readers contributed enough written and photographic material favoring the idea to fill more than two pages.!

Since Carmel Valley has thrice rejected flood control proposals in the past, however, it appears that more opposition must yet exist somewhere. We repeat our admonition of last week: Come out,wherever you are!

While we agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Henderson that the area subject to inundation would have made a wonderful greenbelt or "wild" preserve, the unhappy fact is that Carmel River land is virtually all private property and in the hands of probably several hundred different owners. In many if not most cases, boundaries are in the middle of the river with different property owners on each side!

Let hillside dwellers recall that riverbottom owners have thus far been remarkably generous about sharing their fishing and swimming facilities. Legally, they could well refuse!

We are most eager to learn details of new legislation---- since CV last considered flood control--which permits the Army Corps of Engineers to include recreation and water conservation projects as part of flood control measures. Only recently have federal funds become available for such purposes. When we learn more, we'll share it with our readers. New information may suggest acceptable solutions to problems hitherto considered insoluble.

LATE FLASH

The conference on juvenile drinking chaired by Tom Hudson in Salinas last Monday turned out to be a lively exchange of ideas between just about every police chief, school principal, youth worker and student leader in Monterey County.

The gathering was well worth reporting and it was with considerable chagrin that we discovered on returning to the Valley that just about every available inch in the Outlook was already filled. (Moral: get your news in EARLY IF YOU WANT IT PUBLISHED! We'll manage to go into more detail next week.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor
Dear Madam- -

The major flaw in your recent report and interviews on flood control was lack of a S crooge or villain. Those interviewed were apparently kindly, compassionate persons with a desire to pay increased taxes to enhance property values in the flood area. Such unanimity is unusual in our democratic system and requires a Scrooge to frustrate such schemes. Let those whose properties are affected form a flood control district.That should teach them to avoid river bottoms.

Now, if I had bought property in the river bottom I would certainly not expect my neighbors to be taxed to increase the value. A good coat of paint would increase the value of my house. Any suggestions?

As far as I am concerned the overflow area should have been a greenbelt or wild area, which seems to be in great demand.

The comparison of school taxes with flood control taxes is not persuasive. The principle has long been accepted that an educated populace is necessary for survival of a democratic society. I do not believe this principle applies to living in a riverbottom.

The above comments are considered sufficiently Scroogey to make my points. Bah.

Yours, truly,
H.E.Pendleton

Planning Commission

Advisory Committee

Vacancies on both the Upper and Lower Valley Advisory Committees to the County Planning Commission occur this month, and naming replacements will be on the agenda for County planners at their regular monthly meeting, January 26.

The term of David Hoisington, who has been chairman of the Upper Valley Advisory Committee for a dozen years, expires this month; Frank O'Neal, recently appointed to that committee, has resigned because he has moved from Carmel Valley to Carmel Highlands. To fill these two vacancies, the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association has suggested to the County planners the names of John Sigourney and Mrs. Betty Woolfenden.

On the Lower Valley Advisory Committee, the terms of Mrs. Don McKenzie, Jr., Eugene Schetter, Bruno Odello and Leonard Williams expire this month. Like Hoisington, Williams has been chairman of his committee for a number of years, comprising several consecutive terms.

To fill these four vacancies, the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association has suggested the names of architect William Cranston, engineer T. Gordon Greene, engineer John Otter and Dr. Ben Dahle.

Chamber of Commerce President Rex White indicated to the Outlook last week that his organization may also wish to make recommendations to the County planners.

Oppenheimer Amused

Rumors About San Carlos Premature

"Whenever I come to Carmel Valley, I seem to learn a lot more about what I've been doing than I knew before!" With some amusement, Arthur Oppenheimer II, well-known San Francisco financier who with his two sisters owns 25,000 acre San Carlos Ranch on CV's southern slopes, made this comment to the Outlook last week.

Mr. Oppenheimer confirmed rumors that he has retained a professional consultant to master plan his family's vast holdings here, but amended, "This does not mean that we have any intention of development in the near future."

Victor Riches of Los Altos, planning consultant formerly with Stanford Research Institute who now heads his own planning firm accepted the San Carlos assignment six months ago, Oppenheimer said, "but it will probably be another six months before he is ready to submit even a preliminary plan to us. This is a large job and will certainly be a continuing one, over a long period of time, with many changes along the way."

The San Carlos Ranch comprises approximately the same amount of territory as is now covered by the existing Carmel Valley Master Plan.

"The Monterey Peninsula Area Master Plan is not acceptable to me as an individual," Oppenheimer continued. "According to that plan as recently presented to the community, there is not a square inch of San Carlos Ranch that can ever be used for anything but grazing. I am having my own plans made, for my own protection."

Oppenheimer is a member of the board of directors of the County Council for Conservation and Planning, that group of large landowners on the Monterey Peninsula brought together several months ago through the efforts of Supervisor Tom Hudson. Between them, the 2 dozen or so large landowners own more than 5 times the acreage included in the Carmel Valley Master Plan. Much of the land represented borders on or is part of Carmel Valley.

Whisler-Patri Associates were retained by CCCP to master-plan the entire area involved. Mr. Oppenheimer explained, "Whisler-Patri has indicated to the ranchers involved what would be acceptable and what would not, in general terms. But they are leaving it up to each individual rancher to develop his own plans. Since I am convinced that I personally am not smart enough to do the job for San Carlos myself, I hired a professional to do it."

At present, access to San Carlos Ranch is from 2 points off Carmel Valley Road: Robinson Canyon Road, and the San Carlos Road which is entirely private. Would there be other accesses to the San Carlos Ranch eventually, or would Carmel Valley Road necessarily bear all San Carlos' traffic? Mr. Oppenheimer replied that he would imagine other access roads could be opened up from Carmel Valley. In addition, he said, "Our old Kromer piece, as we call it, a parcel of land on our western side, is located within a half mile of Highway One. Perhaps we could buy a right of way out through the Odellos ....There There are all sorts of possibilities, and no particular problems with the terrain, either."

Tularcitos Parents To Hear Mrs. Bates

MRS. TALCOTT BATES

"Philosophies of Education" will be the discussion topic at the next meeting of the Tularcitos Parents Club to be held Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 8 p.m. in the school multi-purpose room.

The evening's main speaker will be Mrs. Talcott Bates of Aguajito. Mrs. Bates is a member of the State Board of Education, and has been active on many local citizen's committees dealing with educational subjects.

A speaker to explain the forthcoming bond election at MPC will also address the group. Any member of the public interested in these subjects is welcome at the meeting.

Officials To Gather At CVPOA Installations

"Future Planning for Carmel Valley" will be the topic of Keith Evans, recently re-elected chairman of the County Planning Commission, when he gives the keynote speech at the annual election and installation meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association on January 28, at 8:00 p.m. at Tularcitos School. Also in attendance will be Planning Commissioners Dr. Edward Marcucci, and Willard Branson.

State Senator Fred Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee have accepted the invitation to attend, provided the legislature is not in session. County Planning Director Ed De Mars will also be present with some members of his staff. A representative of the Road Department will be present as well. (Supervisor Tom Hudson had not replied to his invitation at press-time.)

Purpose of the assemblage of officialdom, according to outgoing CVPOA president George Brown, is to give Valley residents an opportunity to ask questions about the Valley's future.

Brown specifically suggested that "This would be a good time to ask about the proposed Rancho

Brown specifically suggested that "This would be a good time to ask about the proposed Rancho Fiesta Retirement Home, the proposed cement batch plant, etc., as well as plans for Carmel Valley Road, hoped-for bridle and bicycle trails, sanitary facilities and flood control."

To precede introduction of the various officials, the meeting will open with presentation of the CVPOA's annual financial report and introduction of the 1965 slate of officers prepared by the nominating committee headed by Bessie Irvin (see last week's Outlook.) The list of nominations has now been mailed to all CVPOA members.

Mrs. Miller

Mrs. Julia McCrary Miller, a Pacific Grove resident who was planning to move to Carmel Valley, died Jan. 11 at her home, following a long illness. Mrs. Miller and her husband, James Miller, had been building a home with their own hands in the Mid-Valley section of CV Road, and had expected to move here in the near future.

Born in San Francisco in 1919, Mrs. Miller moved to the Monterey Peninsula as a child, and attended elementary and high school in Monterey. For about eight years she worked as a secretary to Leonard Abinante. During 1962 and 1963, before her illness, she was extremely active as secretary of the Mid-Valley Property Owners Association.

Besides her husband, she leaves a son, David Miller, her mother, Mrs. Anna Gano, a brother, S. McCrary, and a nephew, Fred McCrary, all of Pacific Grove.

Burial was in the Catholic section of the Mission Memorial park. Pall-bearers were John Bonnici, Orel E. Gordon, Ellsworth R. Gregory and Frank Naguet.

Friends wishing to make contributions in Mrs. Miller's memory may send them to the cobalt Cancer Fund, Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

MPC Announces Evening Courses

Registration for new students in evening division classes at monterey Peninsula College for the spring semester will take place Saturday, January 30, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the administration building, according to Evening Dean John G. Schaub. Students presently taking classes in the evening division may register from January 25 through 29 at 7 to 9 p.m., also in the administration building.

A placement examination, required for entrance into English composition courses as well as some history, philosophy, psychology, political science, sociology and speech classes, will be given Friday, January 22, at 8:30 a.m. in the Armory.

All students planning to enter the college as freshmen this semester must also take the placement examinations.

New or revived courses in the evening division include a special short survey of nutrition and obesity, a sculpture course, an Advanced Aviation offering, in preparation for the FAA instrumental pilots written examination. Also new is a study of income tax procedures, and two economics courses have been added -- American Economic System, and Geopolitics and International Relations.

Besides more than 80 lower division courses offered, extension courses from San Jose State College and the University of California at Berkeley permit earning of credit in the upper division. These offerings are in the fields of English, psychology, education, history and geography. Brochures listing specific courses may be obtained at the college now. Registration for extension courses takes place in class on the evening of the first meeting.

Historic Landmark Goes Up In Flames

Condemned as unsafe, and inaccessible from the widened CV Road, the old cheese barn of the Del Monte dairy recently met its end, as Volunteer firemen from nearby districts used it for a training session.

The small brown building at the corner of Highway One was most recently used as headquarters for radio station KRML before completion of the latter's modern new quarters in the Rancho Shopping Center. Before that it served as a voting precinct headquarters. But it was built as a milk house by a previous generation of the pioneer Hatton family in a day when agriculture was essentially the Valley's only activity.

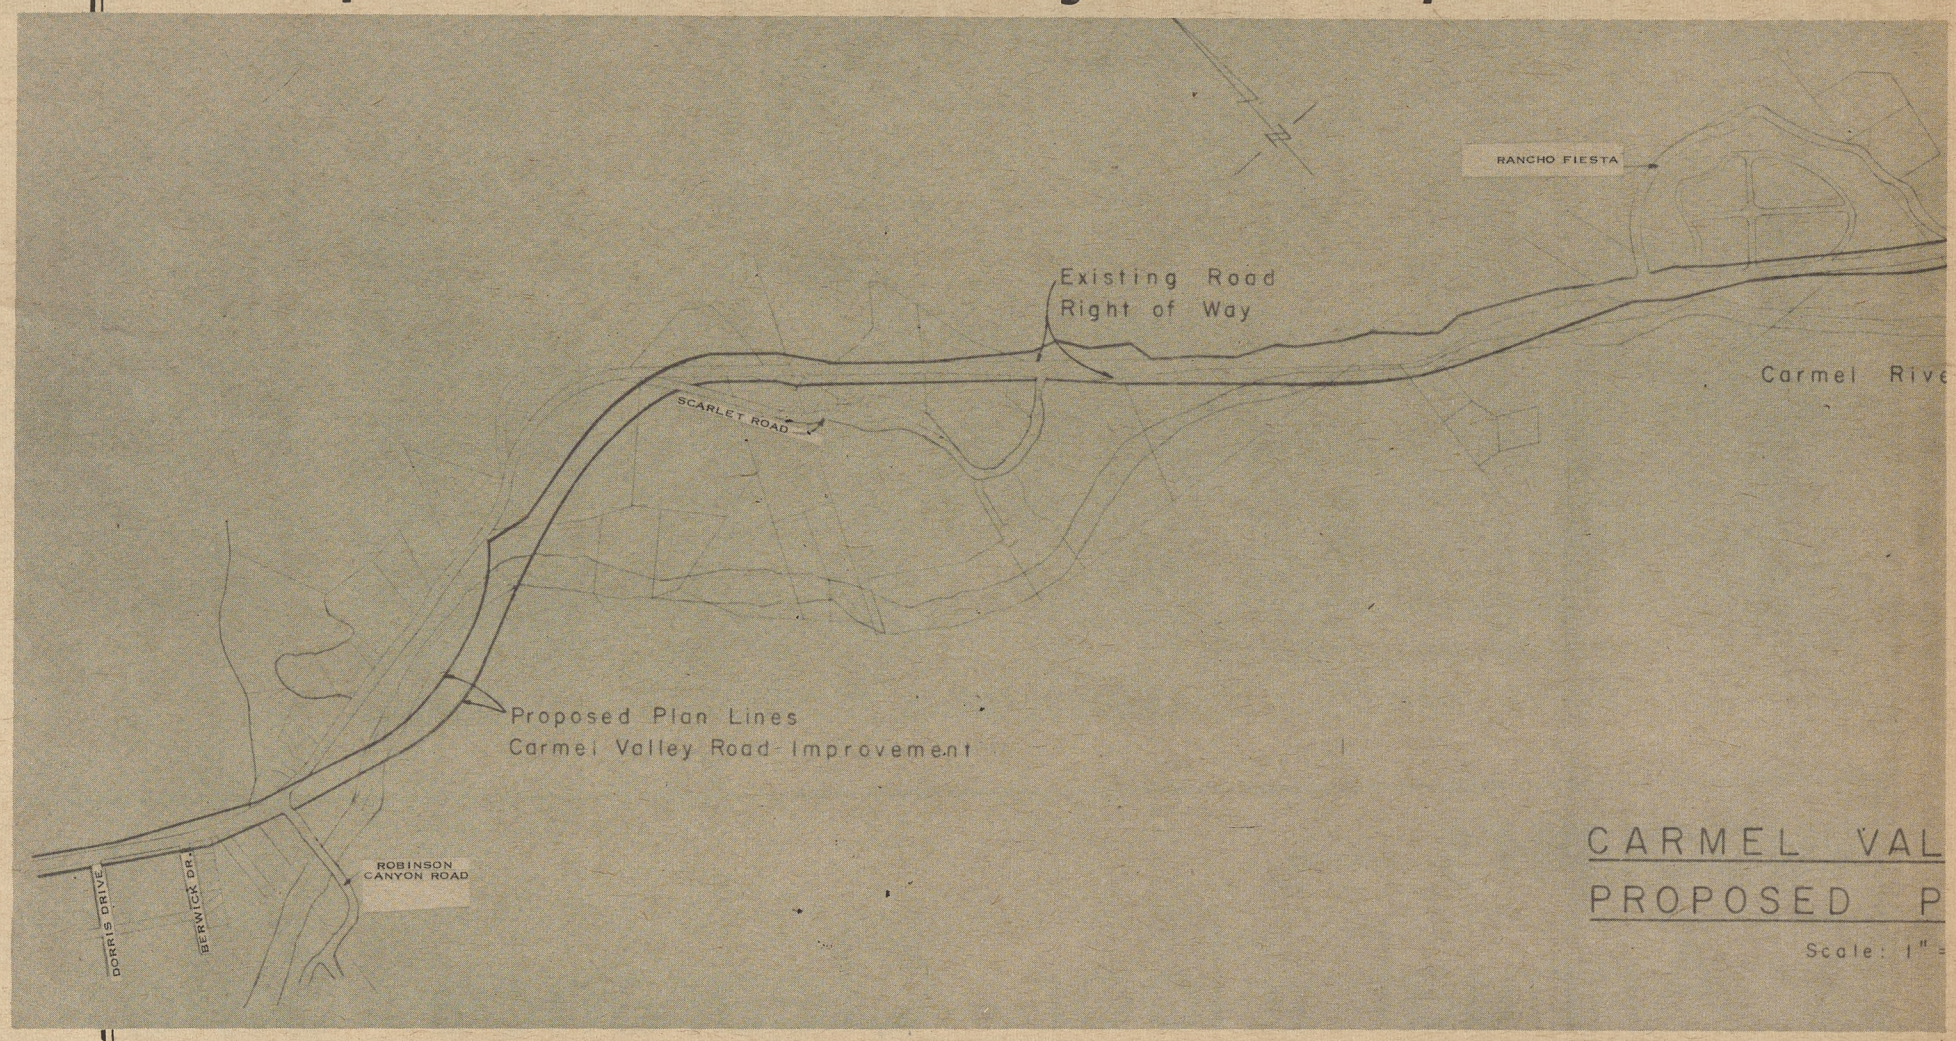
Proposed Plan Lines For Widening Carmel Valley Road To Four Lanes



Public Invited

Education Series Starts Tomorrow

To acquaint the general public with new ideas in education as these are currently being explored in other communities , Carmel Unified School District will sponsor a series of four meetings, the first to be held tomorrow night, Thursday, January 21, at 8:00 at Sunset Auditorium. The speaker will be Charles Keller , described in the Saturday Review as an Educational Catalyst."

Dr. Keller has taught at Yale-in -China, headed the History Department at Williams College.

Dr. Keller is a protagonist of non-graded schools, team teaching, flexible scheduling and revision of subject matter.

Ensuing meetings of the series will have the following dates and speakers; Feb. 18, Dr. Abraham S. Fischler on " A Modern Science Program"'; March 18, Dr. B. Frank Brown on "The Non-Graded High School"; April 22, Medill Bair on "Team Teaching." Superintendent Bair's book on this subject is now the number one offering in the field of education by Boston publishers Houghton Mifflin Co.

St. Dunstan's To Hold Annual Parish Meeting

St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church will hold its Annual Parish Potluck Supper this Friday, January 22, at 6:30 p.m. at the Community center. The occasion is planned for the whole family, and movies will occupy the youngsters during the business meeting following the supper.

The election of three members to the Bishop's Committee will highlight the program, as well as the election of a delegate to the Diocesan Convention in San Francisco, February 2-3. Outgoing members of the Bishop's Committee are David Osgood, John Mortenson, and Captain Philip Mothersill, who has served as Warden for the past three years. Other members of the Bishop's Committee are Mrs. Don Quinto, Mr. Charles Nason, Capt. Harry Townsend, Mrs. Margaret Sell, Mr. Mel Blevens, clerk, and Mrs. Philip Mothersill, treasurer.

Members of the congregation will also accept the budget for 1965 and hear reports from various Church organizations such as the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. Philip Walker, President; The Altar Guild, Mrs. Ed McPhee, president; and the Maytag group, Mr. Earle Wilsey, spokesman.

Mrs. Emma Shoemaker will report on the United Thank Offering. Members of the Church congregation are asked to call the Parish office, 624-8663, by Thursday to indicate what they are bringing for the supper.

7600 men are working on PG&E construction jobs today and every day.

Every working day this year, 7600 men and more than a million dollars go to work on new construction to serve PG&E customers. That many men will work all year long at jobs supported by PG&E's $275 million expansion program for 1965. That amount of money, invested every day in new equipment and materials, as well as in payrolls, becomes a valuable part of the whole state's economy. Of course, all this new construction doesn't slow us down one bit in performing our biggest job, around the clock, supplying millions of Californians with the gas and electricity they need.

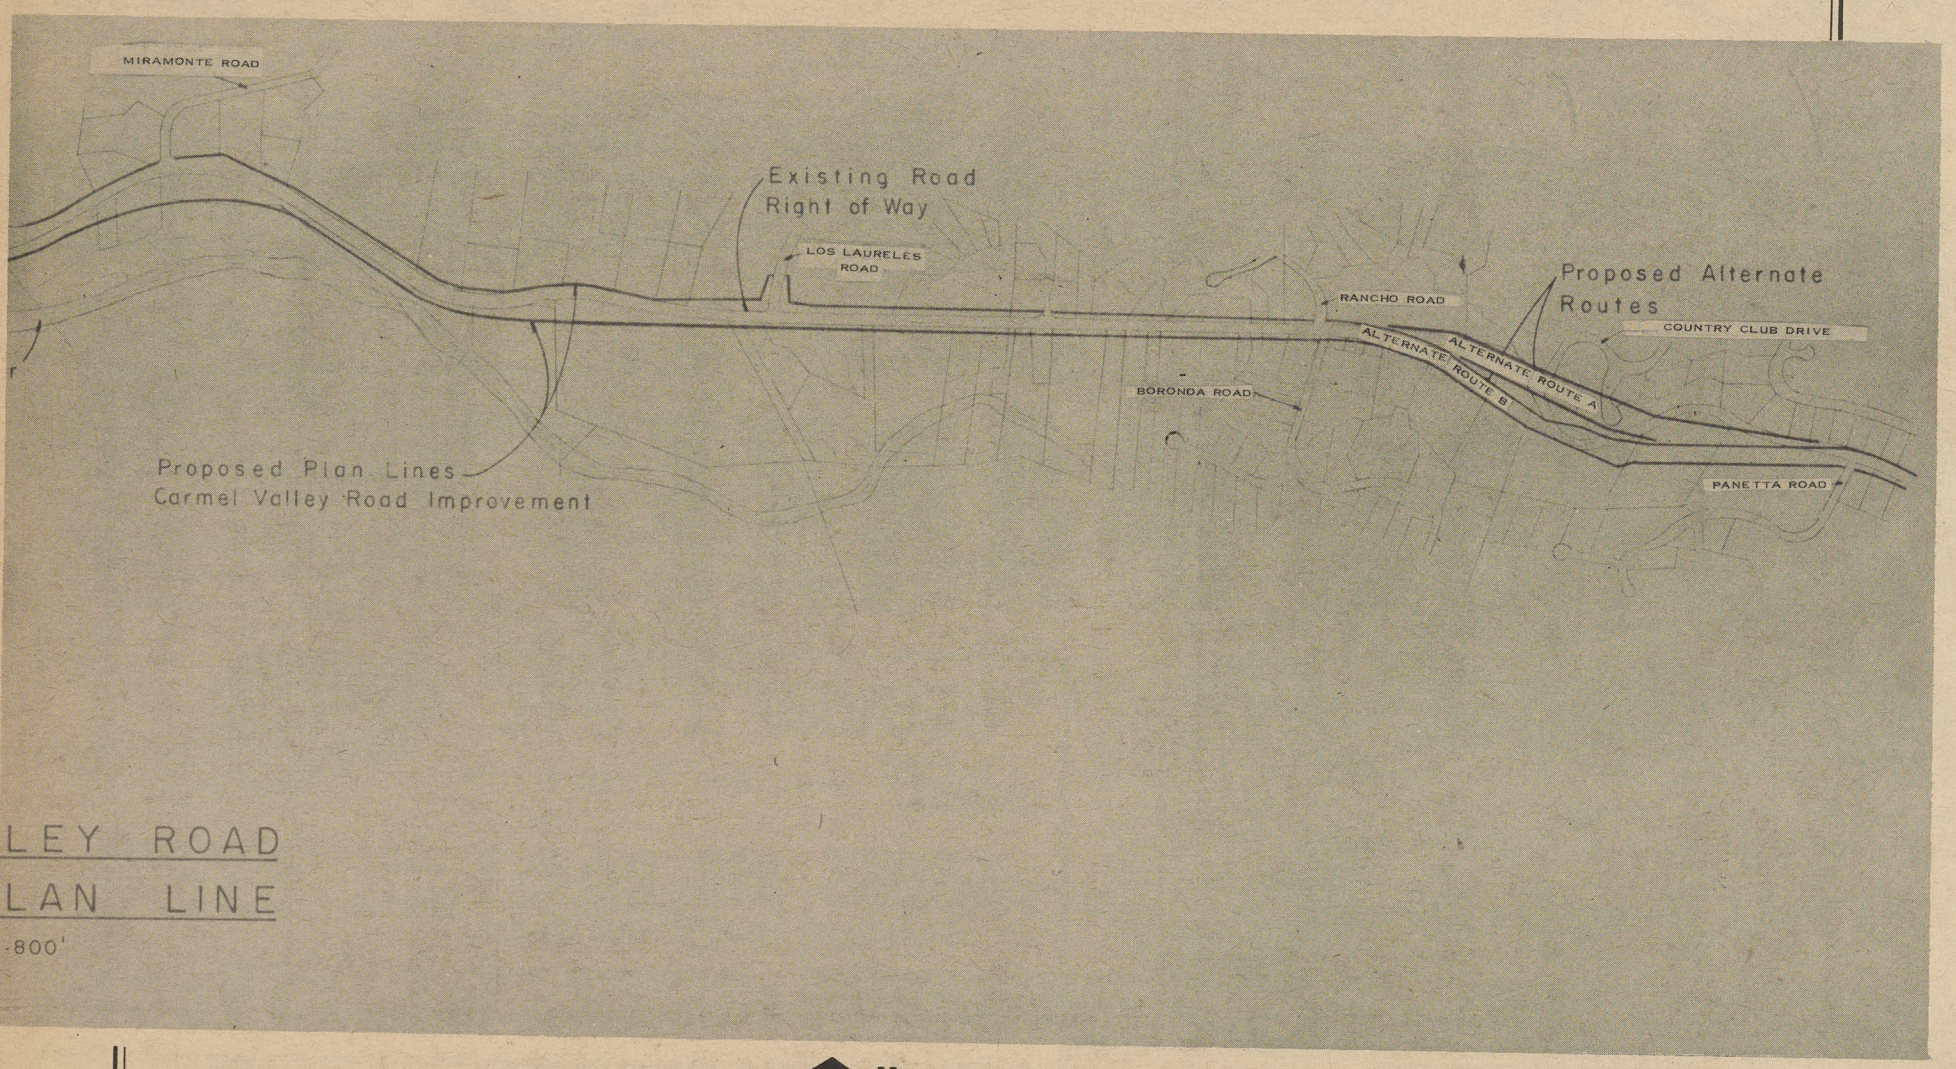
Between The Farm Center Area And Panetta Road



Due for discussion at a special meeting scheduled for last night (Tuesday) by County Road Commissioner Bruce McClain were proposed plan-lines for Carmel Valley Road, as shown above. A careful report of the results of that meeting will appear in these columns next week.

Prior to the meeting, as the Outlook went to press, indications were that strong preference for what is labeled 'Alternate B" on the map above would be registered by Dolores Williams and Winifred Deadrich, owners of Rancho Del Monte Country Club. The choice of "Alternate A" would apparently obliterate their recently purchased means of livelihood.

Mrs. Williams told the Outlook that she and her partner had no knowledge of the road proposals until this week. Their first reaction was, "Somebody must be kidding!"

"We are not for it," she said firmly. "You don't go to all the work of investigating a business and investing in it and planning ahead to build it up and then expect it to be wiped out."

She said that a contractor had been scheduled to visit Rancho Del Monte yesterday to give estimates on future improvements.

In the Farm Center area, the roadbed would head toward the Carmel River through the site of the present Valley Rock and Adobe installation, cross the River into the former Holt Ranch (presently owned by Del Monte Properties as a guest annex for the Lodge), through the Selfridge property, and also through a small tip of property owned by Carmel Unified School district for a future school site, according to Joe Shifley of the County Road Department.

Home Delivery Service Now Operating On The Peninsula

A commercial home delivery service, the Orinda Stage Lines, Inc., is now available to home owners and businessmen on the Monterey Peninsula. Originating in Contra Costa County, the service will be known locally as Orinda Stage Lines, Del Monte Division, and will be managed by Jack Day, who has recently moved to Carmel Valley.

Present plans are to deliver merchandise twice a day, morning and afternoon, for the businesses that subscribe to the service. These include Pease Prescription pharmacy, Palace Drugs, Ordway Drugs, Medical Pharmacy, Moore's Pharmacy, Bowers Pharmacy, CV General Store, Ellen Water of Carmel Valley, Henriette's Interiors, CV Market, and Casa Manana.

In addition, individual homeowners may send for an introductory coupon book which entitles them to five deliveries for $4.50. A check for this amount mailed to P.O.Box 681, Monterey, will bring the coupon book by return mail, according to Day. Packages will be picked up anywhere on the Peninsula and brought to the customer's home by the service.

Day, who has been with the stage lines slightly more than a year, was previously owner of a Mobil Service Station in Costa County. He and Mrs. Day and now live on West Carmel Valley Road near Pilot Road.

Oaks and Cactus

BY MILDRED HATTAN

Friends in "Downtown" Carmel Valley Village remembering that Joe Hitchcock would be celebrating his 84th birthday January 9, decided to surprise him with "coffee" at the Valley Barber Shop. Grace Maher of Grace Maher Fashions, Jo and Henry Perry of the Valley Barber Shop, Myrtle and James Howie of Buttons and Bows, and Mary and Nick Skalyo of Village Liquors did a bit of sleuthing and found that not once in seven years had Joe missed taking the mail from the Post Office to Giuseppe. Henry's invitation to stop on his appointed rounds for a birthday haircut, brought him to the shop where friends dropped by to share the platters of cookies, coffee, and congratulate him.

Special messages were delivered from old friends, Dr. Maus Purple, Alex Weygers, and Bert Berg, who were unable to attend. The guest of honor was wearing a gift sent from his grandson in New York. It was a bolo tie made with a liberty head dollar minted in 1881, the year that Joe was born.

Asked for a prediction (Joe's maternal grandmother, who arrived at the Carmel Mission two weeks after the death of Father Junipero Serra, predicted that some day there would be wagons running around without horses) Joe stated that since he had accurately predicted our winter rains people were now holding him responsible, and so his crystal ball gazing days were over! Joe's appreciative audience enjoyed his story about deciding, years ago, that he wanted to be buried in the Chinese Cemetery in Salinas because it is the last place in the world that the devil would look for an Indian!

The aforementioned grandmother lived to be 102 years old and his many friends are looking forward to celebrating at least that many birthdays of Carmel Valley's special citizen, Joe Hitchcock.

Sheriff's Blotter

Jan. 9. A resident of Carmel Knolls Drive reported unusual activity in the vicinity of two vacant houses. Two deputy sheriffs responded and apprehended three girls and three boys, all between 13 and 16 years old, who had entered through an unlocked door. As no damage was observed they were cited for curfew violations and trespassing. One lives in Seaside, three in Carmel, one in Carmel Knolls, and one in the Upper Valley.

Jan. 16 A Bicycle was reported stolen from in front of the Community Center during the Saturday movie. Witnesses had seen a 12-year-old boy riding it. The sheriff's deputy checked with the boy and his family; they admitted he had been riding it but said he had returned it where he found it. The bicycle, a 26" J.C. Higgings, red with chrome fenders red seat with white stripe, has not been recovered.

Jan. 16. A contractor building a house on Carmel Knolls Drive reported windows broken. The sheriff's deputy found 7 broken windows and a sliding glass door, apparently shot with a BB gun.

Jan. 17 A caretaker for property off White Rock Road reported that people, presumably juveniles, had cut the barbed wire to enter the property and ridden small motorcycles all over the hillsides He suspects he knows who they are and intends to contact their parents.

CV LIONS PLAN DANCE

The Carmel Valley Lions Club has enlisted aid from the Lionettes to decorate the Carmel Valley Inn for the Valentine's Eve benefit dance which they will sponsor. "Days of Wine and Roses" is the theme which has been chosen by Mrs. Mark Hattan and her committee Mrs. William Stowers, Mrs. Clyde Yeisley, Mrs. Nick Skalyo, and Mrs. LeRoy Dufur. Proceeds from tickets now available from Valley merchants will be used toward face lifting the Community Center Building. Donations are $1.00 per person.

Review: The Miracle Worker

Truly 'Magnificent Theatre'

BY DIANA HARDY

The use of superlative in describing theatrical productions is often overdone. However, the Golden Bough Circle Theatre's poster for The Miracle Worker, calling it "magnificent theatre' could not be more correct. The production opened last weekend in Carmel.

Essentially a star vehicle for two performers who must be of highest calibre, The Miracle Worker provided a measure of coordinated talent rarely found in any theatre. Rosamond Goodrich filled the role of Annie Sullivan to its full potential, giving a sensitive, dynamic portrayal.

The potentially awkward vocal flashback scenes, when Annie relives her deprived childhood through the "conscience" dialogue with her dead brother were excellent. Miss Goodrich's acting revealed in them the source of strength which enabled Annie Sullivan to pry open Helen's locked world. They provided the essential counter-balance to the tremendous scenes of physical and emotional conflict with Helen.

Nina Swan's Helen Keller is a performance of rare young talent. The role carries heavy emotional and intellectual demands, beyond the physical requirements of projecting deafness and blindness, especially in a circle theatre situation providing close audience scrutiny. Miss Swan's portrayal of Helen is not pretty. Her mannerisms and contorted face were not meant to elicit compassion. She plays Helen as a young animal lashing out at a condescending world, pathetically demanding affection while constantly testing it beyond its limits.

With astonishing depth and subtlety Miss Swan moved her charactarization past the stages of savage tantrums to a gradual, though guarded, relaxation of inner torments. Annie Sullivan's drive to turn the child into an aware human being gains an intensity of meaning through the wrenching portrait created by Miss Swan. The performance of these two reaches that rare point of drama which is not simply a n evening at the theatre, but a tremendous human experience.

The secondary plot, which brings about the resolution of conflict between Helen's half brother and his step-mother-Helen's mother--as a direct result of Annie Sullivan's work with Helen, has often been considered an author's flaw. Perhaps this is because the other characters would seem pale beside the violent exchanges of Annie and Helen. Consequently, it was interesting to watch this apparent flaw turned into forceful integrated theatre through astute direction, fine acting, and the very immediacy provided by the Circle.

With the astounding triumph of reaching a brilliant child's shuttered world the hub of the play, Nick Zanides, the director, has fitted the secondary scenes into the hub, fashioning a dramatic unit, not a mere tour de force.

The entire cast gave a nicely balanced performance. As Captain Keller, Duke Everts drew a fine line between tyranny and guilty despair. He demonstrated clearly where Helen inherited her torrential temper.

Layne Littlepage endowed Mrs. Keller with a gentle but basically tough nature, harassed by the conflicting demands of her afflicted daughter, her husband and her step-son. She presented a woman struggling to cope with an intolerable family situation without being unjust to any individual member.

Keith Decker, caustic in his portrait of the weakling James, gave the unsympathetic part a keen interpretation.

DIAMOND N

Also scheduled for a hearing at 10:00 a.m. is the proposed "Los Laureles Hills" subdivision of Diamond N Corporation, on Miramonte Rd. near the Laureles Grade. The Planning Commission previously denied rezoning, but has not yet considered other aspects of the proposed tentative map. The County Board of Supervisors will consider rezoning on this project nest Monday and what action the planners can take thus hinges on the Supervisors' decision to be made the previous day.

CARMEL VIEWS

Carmel Views, the large subdivision proposed by Russel Galloway for 200 plus acres behind Rancho Rio Vista, is scheduled to be heard at 10:10 , and at the moment rests in exactly the same kind of limbo as the proposal for Los Laureles Hills. Where rezoning is denied, a case goes automatically to the Board of Supervisors, which is scheduled to take action Monday.

SPECIAL PERMITS

Under the new "moratorium" ordinance, two applications are also being made for special permits now necessary to allow any subdivision into sites of less than 2 and 1/2 acres. F.M. Lansdowne of La Rancheria is petitioning to split a 2 acre plot into 2 lots of one acre each. Dorothy Gonzenbach is petitioning to divide in half a lot at the corner of El Hemorro and Calle De La Agrimensores in Robles Del Rio. R-1-B-3 zoning in that neighborhood allows minimum sites of 20,000 square feet.

MPC Entrants Must Hurry

Students intending to enter MPC as freshmen next semester must take placement examinations this Friday, January 22, at 8:30 a.m. in the College Armory, according to Mrs. Marjorie B. Marshall, dean of students. A transcript of the student's high school record and certain other documents are also required.

Any prospective freshmen who have not actually applied to the college must do so at once.

After, the examinations, which cover scholastic aptitude, English proficiency, and mathematical ability, students will be given appointments for pre-registration interviews with counselors.

Actual registration will take place on either February 2 or 3, as assigned. The first day of classes is Thursday, February 4.

Fort Ord Family In Germany

LT. COL. JOHN L. OLOW III, whose wife is the daughter of Gen. and Mrs. E. B. Sebree of Carmel Meadows, sent this picture of his family from "the frontier of NATO." Col. Olow was stationed with the Combat Developments Command Experimentation Center at Fort Ord until the middle of last year. Now Commanding Officer of a tank batallion, he named the vehicle shown in honor of his daughter, Sebree Ann who stands next to her mother in the photograph. The three boys are Alexander, John IV, and Christopher Paul.

Col. Olow speaks of his assignment as similar to "the days of our cavalry on the frontier of our west -- not too far from the curtain where the elite armor of the United States stands, watches and hopes."

REVIEW:
'MIRACLE WORKER'

blind girls at the Perkins Institute and the patient retainers of the Keller family, were properly subordiate but satisfyingly filled.

The setting of the play was less fortunate. Granted that this is a difficult production to stage in a small theatre, still the use of a raw colors and area division provoked some unhappy blocking and visual problems. The juxtaposition of makeshift-style furnishings with others of qulity is bothersome until the pace of the action absorbs the audience. Then the problems of production are overshadowed by the stellar performance.

In this attraction, the Golden Bough offers Peninsulans a beautiful piece of theatre which should be seen by anyone who enjoys the best in drama.

COMING EVENTS

Bernice Skowran, Chairman of Music, reports the coming of our very first Hootenanny on Saturday, January 23. The artists who will put this on must go unnamed for the present, as the list has not been given to us. We are assured, however, that the program will be really something to see and hear.

ANTIQUES, ARTS AND CRAFTS EXHIBIT

On Saturday and Sunday, January 29 and 30, the many talented people and collectors at Hacienda Carmel will put on display their treasured paintings, mosaics, objects of art and some very interesting collections.

Exhibitiors will be restricted to our residents only, but friends from outside are most welcome to come and see and enjoy the many fine displays. Donations of $1.00 per person will go to the Piano Fund.

NEW RESIDENTS

Among our recent arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. John James and their two white poodles, Popcorn and Suzette. For many years Mr. James was on the staff of the San Francisco Examiner and other newspapers, as Copy Editor and Sports Editor. At one time he also had a column of his own.

Music is one of his chief interests and he is a member of the Loring Club Chorus where he sang second bass. He also sang with the San Francisco Opera Chorus. He reports that his main interest at the moment is to become acquainted with his neighbors, find all of the good food served on the Monterey Peninsula and take life easy.

MEMBERS ON THE MOVE

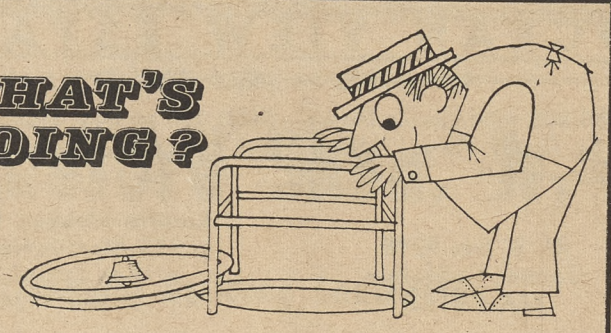
Among members who have recently sold their apartments at Hacienda Carmel is Leslie Wulff who is moving to Moraga to be near her daughter. Her apartment has been sold to Gloria F. Dalton of Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Catherine Ramsey has sold her apartment to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kinney of Carmel and will move to Carmel.

Mrs. Oswald Speir sold her apartment to Mrs. Beulah Dredge and has moved to Walnut Creek to be closer to her family.

Note: We are quite pleased with the demand for occupied apartments, and the few that have been offered for sale have been sold within a very few days after being placed on the market. (Alcan still has about 40 new ones left to sell, but sales have been good the last few weeks and all of the end apartments and the King Size have been sold.)

WHAT'S DOING?



Just about everyone has heard or read stories about telephone Operators helping avert disasters, saving lives and property. But, it's the little things that really show the scope of the Operators' helpfulness—like the three teenage boys who called an Operator to find out how to make French toast (and were told)... or the Operator who helped an Air Force Chaplain locate an airman's father who was in an unknown hospital. It happens every day. Your telephone Operator is more than a helper—she's a friend.

We would like to remind you to support the 24th Annual Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament. Remember, all the proceeds go to charity.

Did you know that our telephone engineers use cosmetics, of all things, to help keep phones working right? For instance, rouge to polish fine metal parts, toothpaste to clean switchboards, orangewood stick to probe electronic equipment, and a primary ingredient of lipstick is used as a lubricant. Whatever it takes, good service for you is our goal.

I've heard that the average person uses a telephone 8,760 hours in his lifetime. No doubt about it, telephoning is an important part of living!

Each year we see many communication changes. And last year was no exception. There was the first underseas telephone cable between America and Asia. And live global television via Telstar II. Also Picturephone see-as-you-talk experimental service between three cities. Sure, it was a big year. But you know, telephone people prefer to look ahead—which means continuing to bring you even better service in 1965.

Alex Weygers To Be Resident Artist At Cabrillo College In Aptos

BY BETTY BRANCH

Carmel Valley's versatile artist-philosopher-craftman-engineer, Alexander G. Weygers, has accepted an invitation from Cabrillo College in Aptos, near Santa Cruz to be "Artist in Residence" during the latter part of February.

Once described as "The Leonardo Da Vinci of Carmel Valley" by the San Francisco Chronicle, Alex has now been dubbed "The Prophet of Diversity'' by Cabrillo College.

"And a prophet traditionally will find greater honor in a neighboring County," says Alex with a characteristic chuckle.

Within the next few days, two trucks will wend their way up Los Laureles grade to the Weygers home to remove a full complement of local art treasures for an exhibit at Cabrillo College, scheduled to begin three weeks prior to Weygers' residency. The college suggested that Alex limit the exhibit to the contents of two trucks in order that the exhibit might travel with ease to other colleges in various parts of the state.

Mr. Weygers is delighted that he will not have to do all the packing and loading of the heavy sculptures himself, as he did for his recent one-man exhibit at the Community Room of Carmel Rancho. It is part of Alex' belief and way of life that he and Marian do just about everything for themselves. But, hale and exuberant though he may be, and much as his appearance may belie it, Weyger's age is somewhere around 60 years and he will rather welcome having other willing muscles do the heavy work this trip.

Included in the exhibit will be large sculptures in Carmel Valley sandstone and Big Sur marble, delicate wood carvings, incredibly intricate wood engravings, and numerous examples of his

Diz Does A Doozy

BY DUKE SCOTT

The Dizzy Gillespie Quintet blew a session at the Colony Club in downtown Monterey last Wednesday and what a ball!

All facets of Dizzy's famed showmanship and musicianship showed up, replete with fanfares and a good deal of hamming. He played Bossa Nova, and funky, low-down jazz. A stirringly melodious "My Funny Valentine" and strangely oriental "Push" were the show-stoppers of the evening. The real greatness of this group was just sound, marvelous sound. Almost a big band sound - from a quintet - the whole show was visually and audibly excellent.

Aside from the leader, Diz himself, we were impressed with James Moody on sax and flute (especially in the aforementioned "Push") and Chris White on bass. Along with Garland and Barron on piano and drums, these sidemen of the group were barely short of perfection. Each one of the musicians lent credence to the whole of what all were playing, taking free rein at just the right moment. Individual solos precluded any lagging moments that over-emphasized, say, the horns above the percussion. The group effort was rich, clean and untiring.

Remember the stickers from the last presidential campaign that proclaimed "Dizzy for President?" Amen!

This week on Friday and Saturday the 22nd and 23rd, "The 3 Sounds" will be at the Colony Club, and like most jazz buffs we hope to be there.

PENINSULA PALETTE

BY DUKE SCOTT

The Catholic Chapel Guild of the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School - Naval Air Facility presented their second religious art show this past week "to stimulate interest in the better traditional and contemporary religious art." It was a noble thought, but its performance was close to ignominious. To criticise religious art is akin to denouncing "Mother" but for an example of what an art show could be but was not, this could be a case history.

First, any art exhibition that carries 230 pieces of work is just too ambitious and the viewer is automatically overwhelmed with numbers. We actually saw paintings dangling from the ceilings. Surely a much more sensible arrangement would have been to have a selection committee instead of accepting all entries.

Second, the big fluff - and we meet this again and again here on the Peninsula - was the use of local judges (with one exception). Immediately, all over the place were cries, of predjudice and favoritism, because of the local judging. We do not believe this, but why give the opportunist the opportunity?

Afew of the works were excellent: Jeanne Fosnot's "Phoenix No. 2"; S. C. Yuan's "Hallelujah" and "Revelation;" and "Creation" by Traylor Dunwoody. Also the "Best of Show" and "First Prize" in the Professional Division, "Crucifixion" and "Adoration in the Stable" by Louisa Jenkins and Marlinde von Ruhs, respectively, would be deserving in any show. But sadly, what could have been was not.

Next year we hope the judging will be done by outside authorities; a selection committee appointed to evaluate the basic exhibitors; and some thought given to public relations, so that the members of the Fourth Estate can see their way clear to cooperate in giving the show proper publicity.

This is assuming the show would build to the calibre of a major art show.

The Eighth Hole At Pebble Beach Is As Celebrated As The Players At The Crosby Tournament

Not the longest hole, nor the most difficult, but certainly one with a rough mental hazard, is this watery stretch on the eighth hole at Pebble Beach Golf Course, where every participant in the Crosby Pro-Amateur tournament must make up his mind whether to go across or around.

The 24th edition of the famous Crosby clambake begins officially tomorrow. Qualifying rounds started the first of the week. Whatever the weather, the 173 teams, each partnered with one professional and one amateur will rotate for three days over the three courses - Cypress Point Pebble Beach, and the new Monterey Peninsula Country Club Shore Course.

Each team plays each course, and the low 5 teams go around again on Sunday at the Pebble Beach course.

The prize money this year is the highest ever: $84,500. It will be awarded to professionals in three divisions, while seven amateurs will win appropriate prizes.

Besides the fun and the golf, the Crosby Tournament stands for the Youth Fund which mades the Youth Fund which makes awards all year long to causes whose good effects last over many years. Last year the Fund made outright contributions of $120,100 to 22 California charitable organizations, and several outside the state. In addition, the Fund established Student Loan Funds at 17 colleges and Universities, five of them in California, others as far away as Massachusetts.

latest form of expression -- black and white prints of abstract drawings which are refinements of Weygers' well-known "Artographs". Then, of course, there will be a number of the hand-forged tools which represent still another area of Weygers' work.

Currently he is most pleased with an electric tool he has devised for sculpting either marble or wood. Although pneumatic tools for carving have existed for some time, Alex had long felt that electrical ones would be more effective, as indeed they so proved. But none are made commercially, so he had to adapt an electrical tool which contractors use for drilling holes in concrete or chipping away old putty when re-glazing. He hand-forged the sculpting attachments, naturally.

Students from Cabrillo College made a field trip to Weygers' studio 2 years ago, and his visit to the college is a result.

A full schedule calls for Alex to address classes in art, anthropology and print-making. In the evening, he will present his lecture with slides, "A World of Beauty", with which so many on the Monterey Peninsula are familiar. For the sociology department, he has been asked to address a student assembly regarding his own way of life.

He was born and raised in Java -- and its influence may still be seen in some of his work. His Dutch parents, afraid to encourage his predilection for Art, sent him to Holland for a "practical" education as an Engineer. Alex completed his degree and has used this knowledge in developing sundry inventions and devices, as well as in the design of his own home. It is earthquake proof, he explains, and he built it himself, gradually with Marian's help, over a period of nearly two decades.

DIVERSE SKILLS

But the ebullient rebel steadfastly refused to yield to what is nowadays referred to as "narrow specialization." He was determined to resist the process of "dehumanization" against which it is now fashionable for sociologists to inveigh. He demanded of life the maintenance of his own individuality, independence, spontaneity.

"to be an artist is a godsend," he once said. "If you have no salaried job you fear to lose, you have no fear. You can say anything you like!"

Through sale of his art products and hand -forged tools, bartering his services--including that of art teacher --and making almost everything heowns with his own hands--Alex has managed to wrest a living. And he succeeded in a generation when Art was considered, in the United States, far more peripheral to life than it is today.

Alex laughs at admirers who deplore his "wasting time" in ordinary carpentry when he could be producing exquisite sculptures. "All skills are related," he explains. "To do one thing well, you must be able to do well also many things which give it depth or background. There is not one aspect of what I have done that has not helped me to do all the other things better."

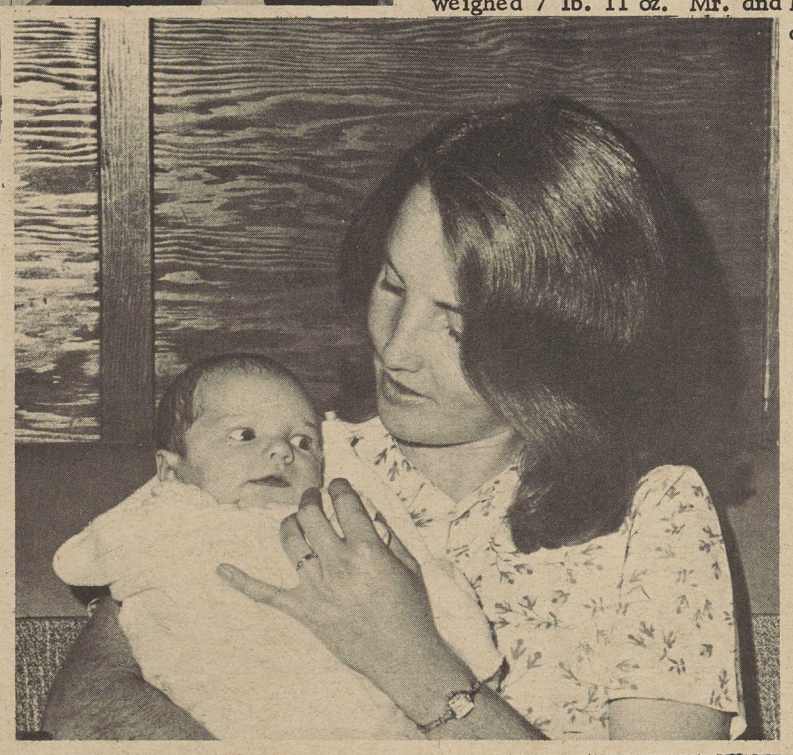
Or Even Two

By Mildred Hattan

With great pride the Carmel Valley Outlook presents our community's newest arrivals. We welcome each infant with warmth and affection and to each parent we extend our heartiest congratulations and sincere thanks for allowing us to share a brief glimpse of Carmel Valley's future...these beautiful, handsome, appealing "miniature citizens."

Discovered among the dinner guests Sunday at the Middle Private Road home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Edmondson was Master Steven James Madsen (below) who graciously consented to pose for our "Baby Review." He was born December 23 at the Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. James Madsen of 75 S. Rank Road. He weighed 7 lb. 11 oz. Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Loesfky of Pacific Grove are his paternal grandparents.



Dainty Miss Jane Clark Canfield (below left) born December 14, is a "Monday child, fair of face..." Her parents, Edie and Ed and two brothers, Kurt and Craig, live at 114 El Hemmorro, Robles Del Rio. She weighed 7 lb. 4 oz. Her father is a retired captain with the civil department of the County Sheriff's office.

OPPOSITE PAGE, AT TOP. Brad Langley, 14 months old, eyes his new playmate, Brett Anthony, who arrived December 20. Brett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Langley of 28 Lupin Lane weighed 5 lb. 12 oz. Nearby grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Langley of Salinas.

A December 27 arrival, Michael John Williams, (left center) was welcomed by his sister Anna (soon to be two) and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams. Michael weighed 8 lb. 2 1/2 oz. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lloyd of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams of Carmel Valley.

"Tuesday's child is full of grace ..." is portrayed by the lovely hands of Florence Ann Conlan, (right center) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Conlan, who arrived Tuesday, December 15. Weighing in at 5 lb. 7 oz. Mrs. Mary Tinea of Pacific Grove is her paternal grandmother; Ben Updike of the Valley is her maternal grandfather. The baby, named for his wife, has three brothers, Billy, Jimmy, and Bob.

This charming miss with a tight hold on Mom's finger is Stacy Lee Will. She arrived December 6 and weighed 8 lb. 6 1/2 oz. Stacy, the daughter of Mrs. Linda Baxter Will and the late Leo G. Will, makes her home in Hitchcock Canyon with her Valley grandparents, the Peter J. Baxters.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Glover of Los Robles Drive are happily accepting double congratulations on the January 4 arrival of twins, Rosalind Michele and Clyde Bud Raymond, who weighed 6 lbs. 3 oz. and 6 lbs. 9 oz. respectively. Mike, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bud Glover. The twins' maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Valenciana of Monterey Park.

Jennifer Amy is the center of attention at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Walsh, 63 La Rancheria. Weighing 6 lb. 2 oz. Jennifer arrived December 16 at the Community Hospital. The rest of the handsome family (at top) includes; Timmy, 5 1/2; Bruce 7 1/2; Colleen, 4 1/2; Katie, 6 1/2; Ann Marie, 2 1/2; and Kevin Jr. 9 1/2. That is Kevin's dog, Yogi Bear, watching (with a critical eye) as Timmy covers Jennifer's toes. (Speaking of feet, notice the book under Katie's!)

Michael James Parsons, a Christmas Eve baby, weighed 8 lb. 5 oz. when he arrived at the Community Hospital. Valley grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford LeNeve, his paternal grandmother is Mrs. A. C. Parsons of Marina. His great-grandfather, John Witt resides in Grant's Pass, Oregon.

Fishing Laws

Steelhead Season

Carmel Valley Game Warden Les Golden would like to remind anglers that during the current Special Winter Steelhead Season fish may be taken only on Saturdays and Sundays, Wednesdays, and legal holidays. The Carmel River is open from the ocean to Robles Del Rio--not above. None of the tributaries, such as Garzas Creek, are open.

The River has dropped "a great deal", Golden reports, and is "very clear now.". Last weekend was quite slow, he said. From all reports, perhaps 8 fish were taken on Saturday and 6 or 7 on Sunday. Several fish of 10-pound size have been caught this season, however. It opened on December 1 and will close on the last day of February. There is a "bag limit" of two fish per day.

Reminder To Fishermen

A 1965 sportsfishing license with appropriate fishing stamps must be obtained by sportsmen before they go fishing in the new year, warns the California Department of Fish and Game. The basic license which entitles the holder to fish in ocean waters and to take frogs, still costs $3 for residents.

Special stamps for fishing in inland waters and under other special conditions, can be bought from one of the 3000 license agents in the state, or from any office of the DFG.

A booklet containing new sportfishing regulations is in preparation, and should be obtainable through license agents by the end of January, according to DFG sources.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO ENGAGE IN THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

To Whom It May Concern:

Subject to the issuance of the license applied for, notice is hereby given that the undersigned proposes to sell alcoholic beverages at the premises, described as follows:

Cor. Carmel Valley Rd. & Via Contenta, Carmel Valley, California.

Pursuant to such intention, the undersigned is applying to the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control for issuance by transfer of an alcoholic beverage license (or licenses) for these premises as follows:
